Civilizations
Starts Tuesday, April 17 at 8pm
details on page 5
WOSU Classroom is looking forward to celebrating the arrival of spring with an action-packed April. In the arena of professional development for teachers, the month starts off with a class on Virtual Reality that features the new and improved “View-Master” for the digital age, along with classes on Lesson Design with Google and project-based learning with the MakeyMakey Invention Literacy Workshop for Educators.

We are also thrilled to announce the return of the Innovation Mixer! This fun, free event is the perfect opportunity for local educators to come together with area business leaders to share ideas and form new bonds. The evening is built around a series of 5-minute presentations given by attendees who wish to share their school’s successes, promote an innovative tech tool, or simply gain experience presenting to a supportive crowd. We’ll be rounding out the evening by announcing the winners of the inaugural WOSU Excellence in Education Awards! The 2018 Innovation Mixer will take place on Wednesday, April 25 at The Boathouse Restaurant in Columbus.

For more information, please visit wosu.pm/IM-2018.

WOSU Classroom is also proud to participate in Ohio State’s Innovate conference on May 11, as well as the ITIP Ohio Google Summit the following week. You can keep up with the WOSU Classroom Team any time by visiting our blog at wosu.org/blogs.

American Experience: Roads to Memphis

8pm • Wednesday, April 4

The entwined stories of an assassin, James Earl Ray and his target, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Decoding the Weather Machine

9:30pm • Thursday, April 19

Inspired by the classic Luis Buñuel film of the same name, and stars John Tomlinson and Alice Coote. Mezzo-soprano Susan Graham is the host.

L'elisir D'Amore

8pm • Wednesday, April 29

Bartlett Sher’s production is charming, with deft comedic timing, but also emotionally revealing. Domingo Hindoyan conducts.

Voters Have Lots to Choose in May Primary

April political mailings bring May flowers, especially if you compost. You likely will get many political flyers in your mailbox this spring as central Ohio voters have many issues to decide. Of course, the big decision for Republicans and Democrats is whom do they want to run for governor. Republicans have two candidates to choose from — Mike DeWine and Mary Taylor. Democrats have four primary foes — Richard Cordray, Dennis Kucinich, Bill O’Neill and Joe Schiavoni. The primary will set up an epic fall battle to succeed John Kasich. There are also primary races for US Senate and Pat Tiberi’s old congressional seat. Democrats hope and Republicans fear 2018 will be a ‘wave’ election to sweep the party in power out of office. Turnout figures from the May 8th primary should provide a leading indicator for the size of the wave.

But voters will not only decide who will run their government, but how that government will run. Ohio voters will decide whether to approve a plan that changes the way lawmakers draw congressional districts. It’s complicated, but supporters say it will go a long way toward limiting gerrymandered uncompetitive congressional races. Columbus city voters will decide whether to change City Council into more of a district based representative system. Again, it’s complicated, but supporters say it will make City Council more responsive to struggling neighborhoods.

While these issues are complicated and candidates’ positions nuanced, the WOSU News Team will break them down for you on 89.7 NPR News, All Sides with Ann Fisher, Columbus on the Record, and wosu.org. Now get those flyers to your compost bin.

April Highlights

Columbus Symphony Orchestra

In addition to being Easter Sunday, April 1 marks the start of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra broadcast season on Classical 101. The season premiere features conductor Rossen Milanov leading the CSO in Respighi’s The Pines of Rome and Strauss’ An Alpine Symphony. Also in April, Beethoven’s Symphony No. 6 along with composer and violinist Caroline Shaw in Lo. Jason Vieaux plays Rodrigo’s Concierto de Aranjuez, Natasha Paremski plays Rachmaninoff’s Piano Concerto No. 2 and the month wraps up with a concert version of Verdi’s Aida! Sunday afternoons at 1pm.

The American Sound

April is National Poetry Month and The American Sound will showcase moving musical settings of poems by some of America’s finest poets. Composer Lori Laitman gives voice to love poems by Sara Teasdale in The Metropolitan Tower, and composer Stephen Paulus sets poetry by Longfellow in the uplifting choral work The Day Is Done. You’ll also hear Paul Bowles’ gem of a song Three, set to a poem by Tennessee Williams. Tuesdays at 7pm and Saturdays at 6pm.

We’re pleased to announce that Kent Teeters will be joining the Classical 101 staff this month as Music Manager and our new afternoon host.

Symphony Showcase

Symphony Showcase also gives a nod to National Poetry Month with orchestral works inspired by or including poetry. Debussy, Butterworth and Vaughan Williams share the stage with the Four Last Songs of Richard Strauss and there’s an entire program of works by Berlioz, inspired by Byron and Baudelaire. The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam makes an appearance courtesy of American composer Arthur Foote and Libby Larsen sets a beloved poem by Elizabeth Barrett Browning. The month wraps up with Schiller’s Ode to Joy in the finale of Beethoven’s Symphony No. 9. Thursday nights at 7pm.

Classical 101 can also be heard in Columbus on HD Radio 89.7-2 as well as streaming online at wosu.org and on WOSU’s mobile app.
