New Season Starts Sunday, October 3 at 8pm
Four New Emmys for WOSU’s Team

We’re so proud that WOSU’s creative team took home four regional Emmy Awards in August at the Ohio Valley Chapter of the National Academy of the Television Arts and Sciences ceremony.

Television producing is not a solo pursuit. It’s about having the right team that works like a finely tuned Buckeye offense with everyone bringing special talents from scriptwriting and videography to editing and animation. WOSU’s local producers are supervised by Senior Content Director Brent Davis and Local Content Chief Cindy Gaillard. Our studio and remote camera production team has been directed by John Prosek for decades.

Winning an Emmy is a real honor considering the competition in the Ohio Valley region including all the commercial stations. This time we were chosen for best television magazine program and short form content for our arts series Broad & High, which is supported by the Greater Columbus Arts Council and the McCorkle Foundation. We also took the top prize for a fascinating interview program on the history of the Ohio State Fair that aired on Columbus Neighborhoods. Finally, we are so very pleased that Drawing with Mr. J won an Emmy for youth programming, a series supported by the State of Ohio through the Broadcast Educational Media Commission.

Local teacher Jonathan Juravich is our Mr. J, and working with our team, Jon writes, hosts and then becomes an animated Mr. J to help young children learn emotional skills through drawing challenges using simple post-it notes. I think of Jon as our version of Mister Rogers. I like the video about a “unicorn with personality,” which explores what stress may look or feel like and strategies to handle it. We all need help with that. Watch Drawing with Mr. J at wosu.org/mrj.

I can tell you I’ve never worked with such a talented television producing and production team and all of you, our viewers across Central Ohio, continue to be the beneficiaries!

Tom Rieland, General Manager
It is with an abundance of caution and concern for our staff and visitors that WOSU decided to postpone the headquarters grand opening celebrations, group tours and other gatherings.

The continued rise of COVID positive cases and hospitalization numbers is concerning and we do not want to risk anyone’s health given the current state of COVID transmission across Central Ohio. This pandemic has shown all of us that even the best-laid plans can be quickly altered by spikes in COVID cases.

We so appreciate your understanding of this delay and look forward to announcing a new date for the grand opening and other exciting public activities in the near future.

Thank you for your amazing support of WOSU Public Media!

WOSU listeners can now hear popular NPR podcasts Code Switch and Life Kit on Saturday afternoons on 89.7 NPR News. Together, over the course of an hour, listeners will get stories about race and identity that expand their mind and hear practical ways to make their lives better. It’s lifelong learning that ranges from the big picture to tiny details, and everything in between.

Code Switch (3pm) features fearless and much-needed conversations about race. Hosted by journalists of color, the show tackles the subject of race head-on, exploring how it impacts every part of society from politics and pop culture to history, sports and more.

Code Switch has been a leader in dissecting race, identity, and culture for seven years. It was named Apple’s first ‘show of the year’ in 2020. Since launching in 2016, the podcast has received praise in Teen Vogue, TIME, Hypebae, Vanity Fair, Oprah Mag, Bustle, Women’s Health Mag, The New York Times, and The Hollywood Reporter, among others.

Life Kit (3:30pm) guides you through spaces and feelings no one prepares you for – from finances to mental health, from workplace microaggressions to imposter syndrome, from relationships to parenting. The show features experts with real-world experience who share their knowledge. Because everyone needs a little help being human.

Life Kit debuted in 2018, garnering praise from Complex, Lifehacker, Mashable, Scary Mommy, Romper, TIME and more.

Listen Saturday afternoons starting at 3pm for Code Switch and 3:30pm for Life Kit on 89.7 NPR News.

From the Archives

Chamber Music Columbus in Concert return to Classical 101 this month with five concerts from the archives of one of the oldest continuing performing arts organizations in Columbus. Each Sunday at 1pm, host Boyce Lancaster presents performances from some of the exciting world-class artists who travel to Columbus to perform in the Southern Theatre.

This season kicks off on October 3 with a group that got its start in Columbus and still has a great following here...Carpe Diem String Quartet plays Mozart, Brahms and the Fiddle Suite: Montana by Korinna Fujiwara from a concert recorded in 2010.

Pianist Spencer Myer has fond memories of the performance he gave here in 2012...playing a program that included Debussy Preludes and the Liszt Petrarch Sonnets.

Another favorite ensemble, the Italian-based early music group Europa Galante and their exciting conductor Fabio Biondi go for Baroque on October 17.

Brentano String Quartet has been a Chamber Music Columbus favorite for years now...and will be appearing live again this season with soprano Dawn Upshaw. The concert you’ll hear on October 24 is from 2015, including Mozart’s Hunt Quartet.

And for cutting edge chamber music, Eighth Blackbird is one of the most recognizable names around. They’ll wrap up the broadcast season on October 31 with Missy Mazzoli’s Still Life with Avalanche.

The American Sound

October on The American Sound is full of music with that autumnal pull – Eric Ewazen’s wistful Down a River of Time, William Grant Still’s Summerland and Chickasaw composer Dylan Bennett’s moving string quartet Holchifo Ki’yo. Enjoy remarkable works by women composers, including Linda Robbins Coleman’s For a Beautiful Land and the Fourth Symphony by Florence Price. Saturdays at 6pm and Tuesdays at 7pm.

Symphony Showcase

Mozart said, “Nobody can do everything, jest and terrify, cause laughter or move profoundly, like Joseph Haydn.” The symphonies by Haydn will surprise and delight you during the month of October on Classical 101’s Symphony Showcase. Sundays at 6pm and Thursdays at 7pm.
