Call the Midwife Holiday Special
Saturday, December 25 at 9pm

details on page 8
I plan to introduce the new general manager of WOSU Public Media in the January Airfare. Given that, this column is my final opportunity to say thank you for making my 19 years at WOSU such a remarkable experience.

There are many people outside of WOSU who have helped us grow and prosper through the years and though I can’t mention them all, I want to acknowledge a few.

I begin with our Friends of WOSU Board, WOSU’s community advisory group, who have always provided valuable guidance. They are invaluable mentors. People like David Baker, Stephen Weed, Susan Scherer, Marilyn Harris, Christine Mortine, Dale Heydlauff, Bill Schiffman and many others including the current leadership of the board – Kyle Anderson, Mac Joseph and Betsy Pandora.

Tom celebrating the WOSU Capital Campaign launch with Friends Board members, donors, Daniel Tiger and Brutus Buckeye
As you know by our call letters, Ohio State holds our broadcast licenses. I’m appreciative of several leaders at OSU who served as my supervisor and guided me on major initiatives that required university support. Barbara Snyder, Tom Katzenmeyer and Jay Kasey deserve special mention for their incredible advocacy. Our long history has proven that the support and confidence of Ohio State leadership is required to accomplish anything of significance.

There are many foundations and corporations that have supported our local initiatives, but I must mention AEP, State Auto, The Columbus Foundation, OhioHealth and others that backed our massive decade-long Columbus Neighborhoods project. Many individuals have, for decades, believed in our mission and contributed: Sandy and Andy Ross, Jack and Joan George, Anne Melvin and the Weiler, DiMarco and Lazarus families and many others. I thank them for their trust and friendship.

On a personal note, while I will be retiring, my wife Carol will continue her invaluable work as a hospice social worker. Her experiences have always put in perspective any challenging issues I faced at work. I appreciate her every day. Our family has been blessed to have relatives in Central Ohio to share our lives. A special thanks to Steve and Laura Nafz and Mary Ann Nafz and our many friends for always being there for us. I will lean on them to help figure out what retirement will mean to me!

And finally, I tip my hat to our talented and committed WOSU staff. They are a special group of incredible people deserving of your continued support.

Thank you.

Tom Rieland, General Manager

"OUR LONG HISTORY HAS PROVEN THAT THE SUPPORT AND CONFIDENCE OF OHIO STATE LEADERSHIP IS REQUIRED TO ACCOMPLISH ANYTHING OF SIGNIFICANCE."

89.7 NPR News to Air Thoughtful, Provocative Specials

89.7 NPR News will end 2021 with two specials that will debate and explain a pair of the biggest issues of our day.

Debate: Should We Expand the Supreme Court?
December 31 | 10am | 89.7 NPR News

Advocates on the left want to expand the highest court in the country. They see a Supreme Court out of touch with the American people, increasingly partisan, and saddled by controversial appointments. But opponents are alarmed by a move to dramatically change one of the three core pillars of American government. A diverse panel of political and legal scholars will debate.

Documentary – Who Wants To Be A Teacher?
December 31 | 11am | 89.7 NPR News

Many schools around the country are struggling to find enough teachers. Large numbers of teachers have quit after a short time on the job, and schools are constantly struggling to replace them. The problem is acute at rural and urban schools. At the same time, enrollment in teacher training programs at colleges and universities is plummeting. This special will look at the implications of the shortages, both for children and the teaching force.

Well-Traveled Editor Leads Digital News Efforts

89.7 NPR News lives its “Global-Local” brand in its coverage. WOSU’s new digital editor Trecia Pannell has the global part down pat. Before earning her international studies degree from Spelman College, Trecia studied in South Africa, The Dominican Republic, Brazil, Ghana and Italy. She brings that worldview and an M.F.A. in film and television to her role at WOSU. Trecia, a native of Columbus, edits news stories on wosu.org and manages the WOSU News social media channels.

“Trecia brings a new creative vision to broaden our digital content’s relevance for an expanded audience,” said Mike Thompson, news content director at WOSU Public Media.

Trecia Pannell
“I am enjoying being part of the work that enriches the lives of people across Ohio through content that engages, informs and inspires.”

89.7 FM NPR News can also be heard on our regional network stations on HD Radio as well as streaming online at wosu.org and on WOSU’s mobile App.
Launched in 1931, the Met’s Saturday Matinee Broadcasts are the longest-running classical radio series in American broadcast history. After the Met’s painful decision to cancel live performances for last season, many worried about the weekly radio broadcasts. With great fanfare, the Metropolitan Opera returned to the theatre this season.

That tradition continues unbroken this season, beginning December 4.

Saturday afternoons at 1pm, Classical 101 listeners can tune in to hear exhilarating performances from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera house in New York City. Some highlights of the upcoming season will include the broadcast premiere of Terence Blanchard’s Fire Shut Up in My Bones and a special celebration of the 150th anniversary of Verdi’s Aida.

The season opens December 4 with the broadcast premiere of Aucoin’s Eurydice, followed on December 11 by perennial favorite Tosca. The abridged English-language version of Mozart’s The Magic Flute follows on December 18, and highlights from great Met broadcasts of Verdi’s Aida follow on December 25 in celebration of the 90th anniversary of Met broadcasts.

Holiday Specials

As 2021 draws to a close, Classical 101 takes time to celebrate traditional holidays with music for the season. Check out our full schedule of holiday specials at wosu.org/holiday, including the always popular Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols from King’s College, Cambridge on Christmas Eve.

Classical 101 celebrates Hanukkah with an annual favorite, “Candles Burning Brightly” hosted by Mindy Ratner. Hear it Thursday, December 2 at 8pm.

Then, beginning Monday December 20, you can enjoy Christmas specials each weeknight at 8pm. Highlights include favorites like “A Chanticleer Christmas” and the “St. Olaf Christmas Festival.” We’ll continue our long-standing tradition of Sunday afternoon performances by local ensembles with holiday performances recorded locally. Hear those Sundays at 1pm.

The American Sound brings the festive spirit with early American holiday music, Morten Lauridsen’s stunning O magnum mysterium, and a new holiday recording from lutenist Ronn McFarlane and gambist Carolyn Surrick. Saturdays at 6pm and Tuesdays at 7pm.
